About the Journal

The Swrjilu is a peer-reviewed journal aims to provide an inclusive platform for the dissemination of high-quality research, reviews, and scholarly discussions across a wide range of academic disciplines. The journal is dedicated to fostering interdisciplinary collaboration and facilitating the exchange of knowledge among researchers, practitioners, and scholars worldwide. By embracing three languages (English, Bodo and Assamese), the journal seeks to break down linguistic barriers and promote the visibility and impact of research from diverse cultural and linguistic backgrounds.

The journal welcomes original research articles, review papers, case-studies, working papers, and theoretical contributions from all fields of study, including but not limited to:

- Natural Sciences
- Social Sciences
- Humanities
- Engineering and Technology
- Arts and Literature
- Education and Pedagogy

Submissions are accepted in three languages i.e., English, Bodo, and Assamese to encourage maximum participation and engagement. The journal particularly encourages interdisciplinary research that bridges gaps between traditional academic boundaries and addresses complex, real world problem. All submission undergoes a rigorous peer-review process to ensure academic excellence and integrity.

By offering a multidisciplinary and multilingual approach, the journal aspires to become a leading forum for innovative research and scholarly dialogue, advancing knowledge and understanding across cultures and disciplines.

Submission Guidelines | SWRJILU

Types of Submission Accepted:

The SWRJILU invites original, unpublished manuscripts from all academicians, authors, professionals in following categories:

I. Long Articles (3,500 – 6,000 words)

Submissions in this category are expected to engage with the theme and literature of a particular topic comprehensively. The article must survey current practice in the field, identify any lacunae and offer innovative reassessment along with constructive suggestions. Theoretical pieces are also welcome in this category.

II. Essays/Short Articles (1,200-3,500 words)

Essays/short articles are more concise in scope and are focused on a particular issue and offer new perspectives and critical insights on the selected topic. They offer clearly identifiable arguments and may provide different ways of conceptualizing the selected issue.

III. Commentary (1200-3500 words)

This category is meant for the analysis of any contemporary judicial pronouncement, legislative action, or policy proposal. Notes and Comments must trace the line of cases in which the decision appears and comment on its implications on the evolution of that branch of law. Similarly, a legislative comment or policy proposal must identify the object and expected impact of the legislative action/policy proposal in question.
